ECO-FRIENDLY PRODUCT GLOSSARY:

• Sugarcane Fiber (Bagasse)

These are products made from sugar cane stalk, a renewable resource that biodegrades easily.

• Bioplastic (PLA)

Made from corn starch, this looks and feels similar to plastic but biodegrades easily and does not leach any harmful chemicals like plastic.

• Taterware

Made from GMO free potato scraps that are heat tolerant and biodegradable.

• Cellulose

Made from the cell walls of plants, this is both a renewable and biodegradable material.

GENERAL TERMINOLOGY:

• Compostable

This means the product can be turned into humus, a nutrient filled soil, that can be used on gardens and yards. This helps nutrients stay within the plant life cycle in place of rotting in the landfill.

• Biodegradable

This means the product can be broken down into naturally occurring elements such as carbon dioxide and basic minerals without polluting the environment.

CERTIFICATION STANDARDS 101:

• ASTM

An independent standards body for compostable certification.

• EPA Compliant

EPA standards for paper products include a 30% post consumer content measure.
